HUERTA ASKS RECALL OF U. S. ENVOYS

Nothing Heard From Nelson O'Shaughnessy Since Late Monday Night

Special to the Herald.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Huerta has asked for the recall of all United States envoys.

All sorts of rumors are prevalent regarding Charge d'Affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City, one being that he has been assassinated. Nothing has been heard from Mr. O'Shaughnessy since late Monday night. That he has been the victim of the assassin's bullet is discredited by the state officials.

Overshadowing everything else in the Mexican situation is the fate of many Americans and other foreigners who reside in the interior of Mexico. Grave apprehensions are expressed as to their being massacred.

Four Americans Killed In Taking Vera Cruz

United States Landing Party Meets With Stubborn Resistance From Mexican Forces.—Reported 200 Mexicans Killed.—Big Guns of Fleet May Fire on the Port

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, D. C., April 22.—The senate at 3.21 o'clock this morning, passed the administration resolution by a vote of 72 to 13 declaring that the President is justified in the employment of the armed forces of the United States to enforce his demands for unequivocal amends for the affronts and indignities against the U. S. in Mexico.

At 2.40 this morning the senate by a vote of 47 to 35 rejected the substitute Mexican resolution proposed by Senator Lodge. It would have based justification of use of force in Mexico upon general conditions there instead of upon the Tampico incident alone.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—The American flag is flying over Vera Cruz and the city is occupied by forces from the United States warships. The occupation of the port was not accomplished without the loss of American lives, four bluejackets and marines were killed and twenty wounded by the fire of the Mexican soldiers. The Mexican loss is said to have been 200 killed.

The Mexican commander, General Gustavo Maas offered a stubborn resistance to the American advance, and for many hours there was fighting in the streets. Toward nightfall it was reported that the main body of the Federal garrison was in retreat to the westward.

Rear Admiral Fletcher in command of the United States warships, pre-empted his occupation of the port by a demand through the American consul, W. W. Canada for its surrender. General Maas promptly declined to accede to this demand, and shortly afterward ten whaleboats were sent off from the side of the transport Prairie, loaded with marines. These boats affecting a landing in the neighborhood of the customs house before noon, and a few minutes later Captain William R. Ruess, of the battleship Florida who was in command of the operations ashore brought his flag in.

Captain Ruess's men had already taken up their positions. They numbered one hundred and fifty bluejackets from the Florida, 300 marines from the Prairie and 60 marines from the Florida. Later these were augmented by a detachment from the Utah.

The coming of the American forces was not heralded by any great excitement, but small crowds gathered to watch the landing. Soon the blue-jackets and marines marched through the streets leading from the water front and along the railroad yards. Others proceeded to the American consulate while still others were deployed along the approaches to Central Plaza, in which General Maas had concentrated his men.

These maneuvers were effected without opposition, but suddenly General Maas challenged the advance with the first shot—a volley fired from a point south of the main plaza. The marines replied immediately, but the action ceased in a moment. There was a lull for ten minutes and another brief exchange from the west end of Montesinos street, where a Federal outpost was stationed.

At 12.30 firing became general and at one o'clock the guns of the transport Prairie went into action.

Prior to this a detachment of blue-jackets from the Utah, holding the grounds between the consulate and the waterfront opened with two of their three-inch guns.

The first shots from these pieces were directed against an ancient tower which once served as a lighthouse. This was occupied by Mexican sharpshooters. Lieut. Commander Buchanan of the Florida ordered that it be destroyed. Five shots brought the old Benito Juarez tower down.

The women of the American colony in Vera Cruz had already been placed aboard the chartered steamer Esperanza and Mexico but the foreign colony, especially the American section, was greatly augmented this morning when three trainloads arrived from the capital. Some of these remained ashore, but many were taken aboard the steamers. So far as can be learned none of the refugees were injured.

The postoffice, government telegraph office and the cable office were the first buildings occupied after the customs house. A squad of marines was placed in charge of the cable office. The telegraph wires were found intact and enough Mexican operators were returned to man the lines to Mexico City.

ITCHING ECZEMA IS DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Use Like Cold Cream to Subdue Irritation and Clear the Skin

Constant or intermittent irritation, producing itching and red, angry Eczema patches on the skin is readily relieved with cold-sulphur cream. The moment it is applied the itching stops and the healing begins, says a noted dermatologist.

It effects such prompt relief even in aggravated cases of Eczema that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years cold-sulphur cream has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying properties. It is not only parasite-killing but also antipruritic and antiseptic and nothing has ever been found to take its place in overcoming irritable and inflammatory affections of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance it instantly stops the agonizing itching; soothes the irritation and heals the inflamed raw skin right up and it is often years later before any Eczema eruptions again appear.

Those troubled should get from any pharmacist an ounce of cold-sulphur cream and apply it directly upon the affected skin like you would any ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with itching.

D. A. R. IN ANNUAL SCRAP

Washington, April 21. (When the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution met today in Continental Memorial Hall, the delegates had planned to settle down to the consideration of routine business.

Yesterday's sessions from beginning to end were filled with thrilling incidents, the like of which have not taken place among the Daughters in years.

The features were an attack on a daughter for wearing the emblem of the Daughters of the Confederacy with the D. A. R. insignia, the adoption of resolutions pledging President Wilson the society's support in the event of war, and prohibiting the men from discussing controversial questions that might cause dissensions in the ranks of the society, such as suffrage, liquor or other similar subjects.

The reading of a letter from George A. Miller of Chicago, who describes himself as a member of the society of the Sons of the Revolution, protesting against the action of a daughter, who he alleged, had worn a D. A. R. insignia beside that of one of the Daughters of the Confederacy which he declared was an "outrageous desecration of the principles of the D. A. R. Society, provoked wild excitement.

Instantly delegates were on their feet protesting against the reading of the letter. It was read, however, but it was some time before order could be restored.

Today's session was devoted to the reading of further committee reports and to the meeting of state delegations.

HAD TO ENDURE THE FLAG

MIS. 26
Prank of British Seamen That Naturally Caused Much Indignation in Brazil.

The harbor of Rio de Janeiro is one of the wonders of the world. You enter a narrow strait guarded by a towering conical mountain and discover a glorious island sea surrounded on every side by abrupt and precipitous mountains, many of them with the most fantastic outlines. I should imagine, says Hon. Stephen Coleridge in "Memories," that all the fleets of the world might anchor there in safety.

In the early seventies a couple of English bluejackets in search of adventure climbed to the top of the mountain that guards the entrance, hauled after them a flagstaff and a union jack, set up the pole on the summit and unfurled the flag to the breeze.

The astounded and indignant Brazilians awoke one morning to find an alien bunting flying over their territory from its most conspicuous eminence. Protests were lodged with the English minister, who, with the utmost politeness, apologized for the thoughtless escapade of some entirely unknown persons and gravely told the Brazilian government that of course he would have no possible objection to the prompt removal of the flag and pole. The emperor, however, could find no subject in all his wide empire who would volunteer to make the ascent to the summit of the mountain, which the people of Rio de Janeiro considered unscalable.

In this embarrassing dilemma the Brazilian government determined to knock over the staff by shooting at it. The Brazilian fleet was ordered to shoot the offending pole off the top of the mountain. Either they could not train their guns to the required angle of elevation or the target was too narrow for a successful shot. At any rate, the English flag flying over the proud Brazilian city remained, braving the battle and the breeze, till it rotted away.

BUT ONE REDEEMING POINT

Eel Declared to Be the Meanest Fish That Swims, Though It Has Some Value as Food.

After a most thorough investigation into the habits of the common eel, Hugh M. Smith, United States commissioner of fish and fisheries, has come to the conclusion that this little squirming creature is the meanest and most cowardly of all fishes. "The eel doesn't seem to have any courage at all, and when any of his neighbors show a disposition to fight, he scurries off as fast as he can and won't make a stand, even when approached by something smaller and weaker than himself. But he is always on hand to take advantage of some unfortunate fish that has become hopelessly entangled in a netting or is otherwise unable to defend itself.

Hardly a good word can be said for the eel, other than that he makes a fairly good food for us. But he destroys a lot of valuable food by his fondness for the spawn of certain fishes. He does all in his power to keep up the cost of living. The principal sufferers from his depredations are the shad and herring. Shad tastes particularly good to the eel, and his method of feeding on this fish makes him a great pest to fishermen. In streams where gill nets are laid, the sneaky little eel is at his best in causing trouble. As soon as a fish is caught in one of the nets he hastens to the spot and begins picking away at the helpless victim and doesn't stop until he has consumed everything but the head and backbone.

When Figures Lied.
"Jon" Tinker, manager of the Chicago Federals, was entertaining some friends with baseball stories. One of them was about a game between Mobile and Savannah in the Southern league. The score stood 5 to 4 in favor of Savannah when a row occurred and the umpire awarded the game to Mobile by the usual 9 to 6 score. On the way home from the grounds, two negroes were discussing the affair. "But if Savannah had five runs," said one, "how could the score be nine to nothing?" "Dat's easy," replied the other. "Whar's yo' rithmetic? Didn't Mobile have foah runs?" "Yaas."

"Well, den, don't foah an' five make nine?"

Where Angels Fear.
The old and good jokes come precious near to being matched in real life. Phil May's little girl, watching the boy at the hockey-poley stand, and remarking: "Don't he make a gawd of his stummock? That's the second 'uporth I've seed 'im 'ave this mornin'." was capped by a certain pony-coated one of the "facile pink-ups" at a tango tea. A slim and satisfied-looking young man had just bade her goodbye. He was off to another occasion of the same kind.

"Gee," she sniffed, "don't that guy worship his feet? I'll be the third time he's tangoed this afternoon!"

MEDALS AWARDED AT STATE COLLEGE TO GROW ALFALFA

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., April 21.—At a battalion parade of the student cadet corps yesterday Lieutenant C. A. Hunt, U. S. A., awarded the medals for the recent inter-company indoor athletic meet and for the recent shoot.

The gold medal for the highest point winner in the indoor meet was won by Sergeant H. G. Woodman of D Company, the silver medal by Sergeant A. E. Mosher of D company, and the bronze medal by Second Lieutenant C. G. Paulson, who is cadet physical director.

The gold medal for the shoot was won by Sergeant W. W. Swift of C company, the silver medal was won by Second Lieutenant R. A. Knight of B company, and Privates R. H. Holmes of D company and C. W. Archibald of A company were tied for the bronze medal, which was won in the shoot-off by Private Holmes.

The signal corps of the New Hampshire College cadet battalion which includes six men under Sergeant W. H. Dyer of C company, has during the past winter completed a receiving and sending set of wireless instruments for field use and the squad is now testing them on the campus. Communication by means of this apparatus has been established between the Experiment Station and Thompson Hall and the corps is rapidly getting the instruments into shape for the approaching inspection.

President Fairchild this afternoon addressed the members of the New Hampshire Board of Trade at Dover and tomorrow speaks to the students of Brewster Fire Academy, Woburn.

The council of the State Experiment Station has approved the plan of Director John C. Kendall to make this summer an extensive campaign in an attempt to make alfalfa a practical and profitable crop in this state. All previous attempts to establish this valuable western forage plant in New Hampshire have been failures. The plant grows in the summer but is winter-killed.

The work this year has been turned over by Director Kendall to Prof. F. W. Taylor and the agronomy department and the field work will be in charge of Assistant Prof. Frank App, who will return this spring from Cornell, where he has been on leave of absence engaged in work toward his doctor's degree.

The alfalfa in previous years has been lifted bodily from the ground by the heaving of the soil and the attempts to start the crop this summer will be made with a variety of seed which produces a plant with a branching root, which, it is hoped, will enable it to remain in the ground. The variety of branch root alfalfa which the Experiment Station proposes to give a thorough test in New Hampshire is known as the Grimm alfalfa, the result of a series of seed selection experiments carried on by farmers in Minnesota. The alfalfa growers there faced the same climatic difficulties that the alfalfa grower in New Hampshire will face and the plant which met the tests there it is hoped can survive the rigors of the winter here. Various other varieties of the plant which have been successfully tried in cold climates have been investigated and the Grimm is thought to be the best of the lot.

The experiments will be carried out not only in Durham but all over the state by farm demonstrators and the results carefully watched. The seed is very expensive, almost prohibitive in price, and the project is one of the most interesting recently undertaken by the station.

Along with the alfalfa experiments there will be a corresponding series to test sweet clover in this state. Sweet clover is another leguminous crop, hitherto considered a weed but recently discovered to be valuable as hay pasture and to have great value as a soil improver, adding both nitrogen and humus to the land.

Professor Fred Rasmussen, head of the dairy department here and secretary of the Granite State Dairyman's Association, announces that the association will have a dairy cow judging demonstration April 30 at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon on the farm of G. S. Daniels in Greenland, near Portsmouth. Representative Guernsey, Ayrshire, Jersey and Holstein cows will be brought from Newington, Portsmouth and Greenland. Expert judges will discuss the characteristics of each breed and show the good and the bad points of the individuals exhibited.

The students of New Hampshire College left Durham almost entirely today after the 4 o'clock exercises for the spring vacation. Classes will be resumed at 8 o'clock in the morning April 28.

ARE LIKE THE REST OF US

Big Men in Official Washington Exemplify the Democracy of This Country.

What always charms me about Washington is to realize that, after all men are human, and that no dignity or distinction can eliminate the spirit of democracy on which the republic is founded.

To walk along and have a chat with Chief Justice White and find the man who has written decisions of historic moment from which there is no appeal retains an interest in every day affairs and wears a fuzzy hat and about the same sort of clothes, shoes and neckties as any other man, only serves to emphasize his real dignity. The Chief Justice is as simple as he is dignified. He loves to spend his vacation days at the old home in Idaho, where neighbors and friends still hail him with the affectionate greetings of the days when he was working his way to the front as a promising young lawyer.

The men in official Washington seem to have less of a halo about them than in the good old days, when the towering form of Webster or Henry Clay would attract more attention on Pennsylvania avenue than a brass band or a tango dancer. In 1911, in a bank the other day I saw the note endorsed jointly by Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. The story is told that Clay asked Webster to endorse a note with him for $500.

"All right," said the studious and thoughtful Webster. "I'll do so, Clay, if you'll make it $1000 and give me half." Clay agreed to the request, and the two set out for banker Briggs, signed the note with due solemnity, and secured the proceeds. As they swung across the threshold out again on the avenue and divided the money Webster in his ponderous voice remarked to Clay, "Henry, why do you suppose Mr. Briggs wanted our names on that note?"

"It baffles me, Daniel," responded Clay; "perhaps he desired some memento to hand down to posterity, for I cannot at this moment conceive how it is going to be paid for by the present generation."

The canceled note is today a valuable souvenir, worth many times its face, because of the illustrious signers. —National Magazine.

CRITICAL COURTSHIP EVENTS

When 'She' Meets Your Family and When You Meet Hers

There are two events in your courtship, that until a man is well schooled by frequent experience begin up with moments of exasperating agony. The first is when he introduces "her" to his mother; the second is the presentation of himself to "her" finally.

No man likes to appear at even temporary disadvantage, and yet before the scrutiny of a calculating family he is fain to concede that he would not care to be such a complete fool as he appears to be, or at least feels, under the ordeal. So far as introducing "her" is concerned, there is the feeling that the eye of experience may not view the treasure with such open and generous vision as is befitting; that the hitherto unblemished angel may possibly under the critical investigation bear some moral defect, a scar, or two, quite unsuspected and unseen by love's fond embrace.

The moment is critical. How much more humiliating than is the other event. You have in the first place a sneaking idea that she has overdone it with the folks, carried away by a pardonable enthusiasm; that this excess of adulation may react under the somewhat caustic and altogether distrustful regard of a devoted family, and that pit falls lurk in a father's praiseful, business-like conversation, and in mother's domestic insinuations. You feel that sister is not so well dressed as might be hoped and that brother has decided against you, unseen and unheard.

That the summing up should be something you would really prefer not to hear, and that the old legend of two lovers being their whole world is indeed a legend and nothing more. And so poor fool sneaks away from the front porch with an indestructible conviction that Heaven is indeed afar off, and love a state that bides many leagues from Paradise Valley. —Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

MARINES ORDERED FROM NAVY YARD TO MEXICO

The first orders effecting the army or navy in this section, since the Mexican situation has become so acute, were received on Tuesday afternoon at the navy yard, ordering the twelfth company of marines to join the special battalion at Philadelphia for service in Mexico. The order was received at three o'clock and shortly after the assignment of men had been made and the company could have left the yard during the evening, but the orders were to have them leave on Wednesday evening.

Captain James T. Buttrick will have command of the company and the men were picked as follows: thirty from the barracks, thirty from the prison ship Southern, and fifty-two from the Naval Prison, making 112 men in all. The company will leave this city at 7:28 this evening for Philadelphia, where they will join the battalion being made up and sail on Thursday on the steamer Moro Castle for Mexico. The departure of this company leaves nearly three hundred men still at this station, with forty in the barracks and the remainder at the naval prison and prison ship. This was again another company to be taken from this station, but there is a short age of officers.

GAY & STURGIS, BANKERS, MAKE ASSIGNMENT

Cause is Long Depression in Stock Market and Commitments in Outside Securities.

Boston, April 21.—Gay & Sturgis, bankers and members of the Boston and New York stock exchanges, made an assignment to Frederick B. Greenleaf of Boston today.

The following statement of the reasons for the difficulties of the firm, which has been in business since 1902 was issued by H. H. Gay:

"The situation is caused by the long depression in the stock market and commitments in outside securities."

Later announcement of the assignment was made on the Boston and New York Stock Exchanges.

Mr. Gay is a member of the Boston Stock Exchange, having been admitted on Dec. 23, 1887. Irving J. Sturgis belongs to the New York Exchange. The third member of the firm is R. L. Luzzo Hall. Mr. Sturgis was admitted to his New York exchange membership on May 23, 1912.

The indebtedness to stock exchange firms is said to be insignificant and the total liabilities are not excessive. The firm claims its bank loans are well covered with collateral at current prices, and that settlement with creditors depends entirely upon the friendly attitude of the bankers holding the firm's paper.

FRANCIS JOSEPH DOING WELL

Emperor's Condition Satisfactory This Morning—No Cause for Anxiety

Vienna, Austria, April 21.—The condition of health of Emperor Francis Joseph was satisfactory this morning, according to semi-official information given out at the palace of Schoenbrunn. His majesty passed a good night, having slept longer than usual. His temperature was 97.5. His majesty had a very good appetite at breakfast today, and the doctors in attendance say his general condition gives no cause for anxiety, as his strength has been well maintained. The official bulletin issued today said:

The slight improvement in the emperor's health which began yesterday continues in a gratifying manner. His majesty passed a quiet night and had a refreshing sleep. His appetite is satisfactory and his general condition good. The emperor rose at four o'clock this morning and will hold his usual audiences today.

WANTS TO STAY IN PRISON

Missouri Convict Declines Parole After 21 Years' Incarceration

There was an affecting scene in the office of the warden of the penitentiary this afternoon when Felix Negro of Montevideo, Verano County, met for the first time in 22 years his brother, Simon Negro who has been in the prison 21 years.

They are men well along in the 60's. The convict did not recognize his brother and the latter was affected to tears when he saw the ravages 21 years of incarceration had brought in the more powerful physique of his relative.

Negro has broken all records of the Missouri prison for continuous service, having served longer than any other convict ever in the penitentiary here. The average life of a man in the Missouri prison is about 15 years. He has twice been offered a parole and each time declined, saying he desired to end his life in prison.

His wife lives near Montevideo. Until the visit of his brother he had not seen any of his relatives since going to the penitentiary.

Felix Negro said he had not kept in touch with his brother and recently read in a newspaper that Simon had declined a parole. Then he made up his mind to see Simon, and if he would accept liberty to cure for him.

He made this offer to the board of Pardons and Pardoners, and that body will in a few days recommend a parole.

Simon Negro is broken in health and strength, and has apparently lost all interest in everything outside the stone walls that have held him for so long.

He has been one of the model prisoners, only a few minor infractions of the rules being charged against him. For years he has had light employment as one of the keepers of a cell building. Felix Negro returned to his home tonight, but up to Simon to say whether he will remain in prison or become a free man. —Jefferson, Mo., correspondence in the New York Sun.

CRIES OF DISAPPROVAL

Groat Asst. Sec. F. B. Roosevelt's Reading Names of Congressmen Who Opposed House Resolution.

Seattle, Wash., April 21.—In an address at the Democratic State headquarters last night Franklin B. Roosevelt, assistant Secretary of the Navy, criticized members of the House who voted against the resolution endorsing the President's plans in the Mexican crisis.

When he announced that two members of the Washington delegation had voted against the resolution, there were cries of disapproval, which were repeated when he read the names of the members who voted no.

Mr. Roosevelt said the day-Panama-Treaty was a "horrible blunder" but America is bound to live up to the terms of the treaty in the tolls matter.

I. C. S. FRATERNITY OF THE WORLD

KING GEORGE IN PARIS

With Queen Mary He is Spending Three Days in French Capital—Visit Politically Significant.

Paris, April 21.—The tenth anniversary of the intimate friendly agreement between France and Great Britain in international politics is being celebrated here by a three days' visit of King George and Queen Mary, as the guests of the French Government. Much has been done by both governments to render the visit significant politically and pleasant personally. All the main arteries of Paris were decorated with garlands of evergreen and intertwined flags of both nations, and crowds of Parisians awaited from an early hour the arrival of their majesties.

HOW TO DANCE THE TANGO, No. 1

By ODGERS T. GURNEE

Illustrated With Specially Posed Photographs

THE tango is erroneously supposed to consist of an intricate maze of steps and figures to the number of a hundred or more. To tell the truth, there is just one basic step, upon which the whole fabric of the dance is founded. This is the basic step, as it is also called, the tango.

Until one has mastered this step perfectly it is useless to attempt the tango. Although it is simple to describe and looks very easy, it takes quite awhile to get the proper swing. The principle of the step is as follows: the half circle, which is used a great deal, consists of the forward step, the stamp and a short, slow step back with the left foot. Follow this with a slight dip and go forward on the left.

The side circle is danced in open position—that is, facing in the same direction, with hands clasped in front. The step is the same as in the full circle, except that both are going in the same direction. Another striking step is the "seissors."

Stand facing one another. The man crosses his right foot in front of his left. Turn slightly on the ball of the foot so that both are facing in the same direction. Step forward on the left, turn toward each other and half way around. Raise the left foot and cross it in front of right, take step forward on the right foot, turn and repeat original measure. The girl's step is the same as the man's except that it is on different feet. In this, as in the circle, make the forward steps slow, and on the turn raise the foot quickly so that the motion is a continuous one.

In the so called Argentine tango, as it was first danced here, there were a number of dips and bends, but the impossibility of doing these steps on a crowded floor has caused the majority of people to give them up. The newer Parisian tango has no dips at all in it, depending entirely upon the circle, and for that reason being a great deal nearer the original.

The following rules for beginners, as compiled by Mr. and Mrs. Rowley Downes, should prove a great aid to any one who is anxious to learn:

Do not stand unnaturally when dancing.

Do not lead weakly.

Hold the lady in a normal position, not too close or too loose.

Do not hold the arm straight out. It should be bent at the elbow, with hands clasped above the head.

Do not dance on the heels.

Conform the length of your step to your partner's.

Adjust your arm to the lady's height. Never account movements of the shoulders or hips.

Keep elbows still.

Keep these in your mind's eye and remember them when you are dancing and you will find it much easier to get along.

The continual call for something new must be answered. Why not try and devise a new step yourself. When doing this, however, bear in mind that the grotesque step or posture is not the one that finds popular favor. Make them simple, effective and in keeping with the dance to which they are added.

CORRECT POSITION FOR START OF THE TANGO.

CONDITIONS AND METHODS.

A great deal is said and published nowadays about the decline of the country church and rural life generally, and it is contended also that the attendance of the city churches is not what it ought to be. But in the cities there are so many people that fair sized congregations can be made up of a very small proportion of the community, and so the legging there is not so noticeable as in the country, even if as pronounced in proportion to population.

For conditions as they exist in the rural districts numerous remedies are proposed, one of which is that the church must retake the place it held in the earlier days and become again the "hub of the wheel," so to speak. The obstacle in the way of restoring the church to its old-time influence and leadership is said to be a lack of funds, the country community being unable or unwilling to pay salaries that will attract and hold to the pulpit the right kind of men, men able to lift the church from its present low level to the place it ought to occupy as the central and guiding influence in the community.

In the discussion of agricultural conditions and the cost of living the farmers are told, sometimes politely and sometimes very bluntly, that the trouble arises from the fact that they do not understand their business and are not up to the times. Legislation and commissions are multiplied in an effort to lift the farmers out of the rut, and possibly this is all right. It is yet too early to measure the fruits of the agitation.

But what of the church? If that, too, has fallen behind in the rapid movement of the age, is it not possible that new and "modern" methods are needed there? If so, it may be profitable to consider briefly the methods of Rev. "Billy" Sunday, the former baseball player. He is now the most conspicuous evangelist in the country and does not lack support, if it is true, as reported, that a collection recently taken for him in Pittsburg amounted to about $35,000. His appearance at Carnegie Hall in New York was the occasion of a riot, such was the eagerness to see and hear him, he "sailed into the devil" with all the gestures, loudness and slang of the baseball field, coining some of his slang as he went along. And he made a great impression!

Perhaps here is a pointer for the church in general, and particularly the country church. To hold it up as such would be as sensible as much that is said to and about the farmers.

The Northfield, Mass., schools have received a gift of $100,000 from a donor whose name is not made public. The schools were funded by the late Dwight L. Moody, the world-famed evangelist, and stand high among the educational institutions of the country.

New Hampshire has two aspirants for the governorship who announce themselves as candidates of the "plain people." But most office seekers and spellbinders are very deeply interested in the "plain people" as the time for voting approaches.

A Massachusetts town has established a nursery for the production of shade trees for use in the town, and the work is done by the town's poor. On the face of it there appears to be nothing bad about that plan.

Most automobile drivers are considerate and careful, but that is no reason why the reckless should not be dealt with as they deserve. And the courts should see that this is done without fear or favor.

In some towns men got out their straw hats in response to the Sunday hat wave, but there will be numerous days yet this spring when they will be glad to year their overcoats.

Already special taxes for the support of war are being considered in Washington. War comes high, but, fortunately, it is not necessarily one of those things that we must have.

Emperor Joseph suffers no more from an attack of catarrh than do the rest of us. The only difference is that his case calls for big, black headlines.

Ex-President Taft hopes that war will be averted. When it comes to safety and sanity Mr. Taft stands pretty well toward the head of the class.

The war scare is getting to be "hot stuff," yet the people should remember that it is a good deal easier to get into war than it is to get out of it.

If April showers bring Mayflowers there should be an abundance of the latter this year.

Now let's see what the "American party" in New York will do.

Let no city or town forget that the time to clean up is at hand.

CURRENT OPINION

Doubling Postal Bank Deposits.

A bill to double the maximum deposit and interest limit of the United States postal banks has been favorably reported to the House, with the indorsement of the postmaster-general. Begun Jan. 1, 1911, this system now has to its credit an average aggregate deposit from month to month of $34,000,000, though $500 is the limit of total account bankable by any individual, and the interest paid is only 2 per cent. There is official authority for the statement that the sum turned away now under present restrictions amounts to more than the sum accepted, a surprisingly large number of would-be depositors, it is said, caring little or nothing for interest paid if only they can bank with the nation.

Opposition that originally fought this project to keep in the country money that in huge amounts was then sent abroad in postal orders by alien workers has well nigh ceased. Savings banks have found it less hostile to them than they expected to find it, and national banks now struggle to get use of the capital which the government loans them at a slight increase in interest charge over what the depositors in the postal banks receive. Indeed the postmaster-general is contemplating introducing the method of competition among the national banks by formal bids for use of the money that formerly went abroad or was hidden away in a dithus kept from circulation.

Inasmuch as additional business, amounting to millions, which the postal banks could do if the new limits were defined, can be carried on with comparatively small additional expense to the department, it is difficult to see what objection there can be to enactment of the law that is favored by the House postoffice committee and the postmaster-general. —Christian Science Monitor.

FROM THE COUNTRY

Young Man Wanted to Know How the Lights Burned Upside Down.

A rusticated specimen of young manhood sauntered into Gause Bros' store on Bow street Wednesday morning and innocently inquired if he was in Portsmouth. When informed affirmatively he seemed much pleased, and advanced the information that he belonged "away up state," and that this was his first experience in a "big city."

While munching his beans, (he wanted some Johnny cake, but couldn't get it.) our friend took a general survey of the store, and then asked:

"How dew them lights ever burn upside down?" Evidently electricity was a new and unknown power in this poor mortal's mind.

"So the United States is a-going to war, hey? Who be they going tew fight agin now?" But it was useless, Mexico was as far beyond his power of understanding as if it had been the fourth dimension. The young man is on his way to Boston, and it is hoped that his trip will be enjoyable.

STATE ELKS RECEIVE GRAND EXALTED RULER

Over 300 Members Enjoy Banquet and Excellent Program at Concord

The New Hampshire Elks Association to the number of 300 met in Concord on Tuesday, Portsmouth Lodge being well represented.

Early in the evening a business session was held at which time the following officers were elected:

President, P. F. Cassidy, Dover; vice president, F. P. Leveroni, Keene; secretary, Andrew O. Caswell, Portsmouth; treasurer, J. T. Hallisey of Nashua.

The executive committee as appointed is composed of two members from each lodge of the state.

Following the business session a reception was given to Hon. Edward Leach, Grand Exalted Ruler, and a member of the New York city lodge.

The banquet, an elaborate one, leaving from soups and relishes through to lobster, chicken, entrees, punch, desserts and cigars, was prepared by Caterer Nardin.

While the courses of the banquet were tempting, they were momentarily forgotten during the evening, when either Miss Gertrude Carlyle, "The Girl with the Personality," or Miss Dora Ranel, the Gypsy violinist, two of the Hub's clever cabaret entertainers, appeared in the vicinity of the stage. The young ladies were the best of entertainers and their acts were repeatedly encored. Another clever entertainer was Alex Billbruck, of Portsmouth, soloist.

Following the banquet and with the smoke from fragrant cigars gyrating ceilingward, Toastmaster William J. Ahern rapped for order and with appropriate remarks called upon the following who interestingly responded:

Edward Leach, Grand Exalted Ruler; Governor Samuel D. Parker, Thomas P. Moran, District Deputy Exalted Ruler of New Hampshire; Mayor Charles J. French of Concord; Edward A. Davis, vice president Association of Massachusetts Elks, Somerville, Mass.; J. Clifford Entwistle, secretary Association of Massachusetts Elks, Salem, Mass.; Michael B. Griffin, Portsmouth; Charles H. Sinclair, Concord; Frank J. Kelley, Concord.

In retiring from the head of the New Hampshire Association ex-president Ernest L. Chaney of this city leaves the organization in excellent condition financially and with a membership of upwards of 500.

MAYOR FRENCH'S HAT IN RING

Concord Executive Announces He Will Be Candidate for United States Senator

Mayor Charles J. French of Concord last night announced his candidacy for United States Senator from the Second New Hampshire district. "I take a common working man to the job of leaning toward the spectacular, sprung the announcement in his address at the Elks' State Assembly here. Prefacing his talk with the statement that no subject had been assigned to him he added that he would say something that might please and might not. Then he plunged into a boost address for the city of Concord, leading up to a general sketch of his own climb from a common working man to the position of executive of the city.

"If a working man is qualified to represent Concord in that capacity," he said, "I do not see why he cannot represent the Second senatorial district. It is up to you people to decide whether you'll be represented by an honest, common man or elect, as in the past, one whose promises are forgotten until he wants to use you again."

The announcement was heartily applauded.

NEW FORM OF LIQUOR LICENSE

Applies to Hotel Keepers Throughout the State

At the last session of the legislature a bill was passed authorizing the license commission in their discretion to issue to holders of licenses of the first class in license cities and towns a further license permitting such holders to sell liquor of any kind, in quantities of less than five gallons to one person at one time, not to be drunk on the premises, on all days except Sundays and holidays and such other days as the commission may designate.

In order to carry out the provisions of the act the commission has issued a new form of license as well as a new bond which have been sent to hotel keepers throughout the state, but very few applications have been received as yet, and very few are expected by the commission.

The objection on the part of first class license holders is that the business which might be done under the provisions of the law would not warrant the expenses of procuring the new license.

It is understood that one or two local hotels have filed application with the commission under the new ruling.

and will go in commission at Boston in June. After official trial trips are expected to begin in May. Once more the question is asked: "Why is the new ship not put in commission at the Portsmouth yard, the nearest naval station?"

RAILROAD NOTES

Orders have been issued that conductors of the Boston and Maine shall wear a new style cap slightly different from those worn at present.

Edward Gallagher of Worcester, Mass., has been appointed manager of the depot restaurant at Concord.

Reports are again current that the White Mountain division is to lose its identity, and that the change will be brought about simultaneously with the going into effect of the summer schedules. According to the plans now laid the main line with its branches between Concord and Woodsville will be included with the Southern division and will be operated from this city, while the lines north of Woodsville will be taken into the Passumpsic division.

The Boston and Maine road's air brake instruction car No. 1111 is covering the Fitchburg division for the accommodation of employees whose duties require them to handle Westinghouse and New York air brake apparatus.

The motive power department of the Boston and Albany road has received from the Allston shops six eight wheel standard Schenectady passenger engines, which have been rebuilt for Boston, South Framingham and Worcester service.

An innovation in the Safety First Movement is in the use of pay envelopes to call the attention of employees to the matter. On the lower half of the envelope appears the B. and M. symbol with "Safety First" in the same form as on the buttons worn by Safety First committee members. Besides this is printed "Protects the man, his wife, his children." To the present time the Safety First Movement has been of great assistance in reducing the number of accidents.

Charles Wuerz, representing the Red Rose, which appears at the Portsmouth Theatre on Wednesday evening, April 22nd, was here today arranging for the production.

STATE BOARD OF TRADE MEETS

Gov. Felker and Others Address Meeting Held at Dover on Tuesday.

The annual spring meeting of the New Hampshire State Board of Trade was held in Dover on Tuesday, the Dover Board of Trade acting as host. Governor Felker and President E. T. Fairchild of the state college were special guests.

Before the dinner at the American House the visitors were taken on a tour of the public buildings and other points of interest. The meeting was held at 1.30 in the city council chambers. Mayor George E. Cox of Lancaster, president of the State Board, presiding. Ex-Mayor Arthur G. Wafford, president of the Dover Board of Trade, gave the welcoming address. President Cox responded.

The chief address was by Levin J. Chase of Concord on "Ancient Wisdom and Modern Progress." Then came the general discussion of the question: "Is it advisable to encourage the county agent plan for the promotion of agriculture in New Hampshire?" Hon. Andrew L. Felker, of Meredith, Commissioner of Agriculture opened the discussion in favor of the plan. Governor Felker also spoke in favor of the plan. It appeared to be the general sentiment of the board that the plan was a good one.

President Fairchild spoke of the work the state college is doing. Among the other speakers were Henry Charles H. Pellet of the state college, Fernando W. Hartford of Portsmouth, and Secretary Osmond of the New Hampshire Board of Trade. The next annual meeting will take place in Lancaster.

GUARDIAN DISCHARGE AND PROPERTY PLACED IN TRUST

Judge Hoyt of the Probate Court on Tuesday handed down a decision in the petition of Ivan D. Jenness of Quincy, formerly of Rye Beach, that his guardian, Percy Gardner, of Exeter be discharged and that he be placed in charge of his own property. The hearing on the petition was held here some weeks ago and evidence was produced to show that Mr. Jenness had settled down, was married, and capable of caring for his own property.

Judge Hoyt's decision was that the guardianship be discharged and that all of the property be placed in trust for Mr. Jenness. The guardian, Percy Gardner, of Exeter, in trust, during his life time and at his death to distribute the property to Mr. Jenness' family. This arrangement was perfectly satisfactory to Mr. Jenness who now will have the unrestricted use of the income of his property.

WAR IS SANCTIONED BY SENATE

from his position in Central Plaza, the Americans found themselves the objects of fusillades from the tops of houses where small groups of soldiers and citizens had taken up positions. Towards the middle of the afternoon a large body of Mexicans evacuated their positions where it is reported from Mexican sources they are expecting to be joined by reinforcements sent down from the capital.

This withdrawal however was not entirely unaccompanied. Those watching on the ships observed through their glasses a large force of Mexicans moving over the hills in the western outskirts of the city, apparently with the intention of flanking a battalion of marines in the railway yards and along Montezuma which runs east and west not far from the American consulate.

Instantly the five inch guns of the Pacific let go, breaking the Mexican formation and causing a hasty retreat. This ended the flanking movement. Only a few minutes before the three inch guns of the Pacific had been used effectively near shore.

A small detachment of Mexicans had gained positions near the customs house and there concealed marksmen were causing some trouble. A few shots from the Pacific's guns served to silence that position. From time to time the same guns played their shells along the line of the shore, keeping that territory comparatively free of the sharpshooters.

With all the eastern side of the city occupied and also the docks of the railway as far west as the round house, and with the Mexicans unable to do more than keep up an annoying but ineffective fire from house-tops, Captain Rush late this afternoon sent under the flag of truce a native messenger as General Mas to ask if he was not ready to surrender.

It was learned that unless the Mexicans yielded Captain Rush had his choice of continuing the fighting under the tactics he was using or changing all positions—or of calling on the warships for a bombardment. Captain Rush was loath to resort to a bombardment and on the other hand did not desire to lose any more of his men by charges. He recognized that the tactics of the Mexicans might leave the houses and fighters in their positions indefinitely and that it was not impossible that those who were supplying from the roofs might be reinforced by others of their kind during the night.

The messenger was told to remind General Mas that while there were shrapnel at that time only a few more than 1000 men there would be available for the American forces by morning some 10,000 men.

Washington, April 21.—The first news of the battle at Vera Cruz was given to the Senate this evening by Senator Root in a strong speech on the war resolution in which he referred to the loss of lives at Vera Cruz when he said "Is there anything else to justify this loss of lives, is there no broader ground than the mere question of the salute of the flag. When the children made fatherless today turn back the pages of history and find that the loss of life was over a mere ceremony. He said that whatever action would be taken would it be justified in armed expulsion of a temporary government. Senator Lodge also made a stirring speech on the matter of the resolution and it was a strenuous night in the Senate. At midnight the Senate was still in session and still arguing and trying to come to an agreement on the wording of the resolution.

At midnight no further news had come through from the front, but it was generally accepted in official circles that war was virtually on and that the Mexicans would make a stubborn resistance to peaceful occupation of the sea ports by the Americans. At this hour the whole of Vera Cruz was not taken, only the water front and that part adjacent to the custom house.

Washington, April 21.—Vera Cruz is to be blockaded by Admiral Badger and his ships, which are now hurrying south. Secretary Bryan will so notify representatives of the powers this afternoon.

After that notification is given, Admiral Badger, in command at Vera Cruz, will initiate the blockading work as soon as the time limit expires. That time limit will probably be 24 hours.

It is not the intention of this government to land marines in Vera Cruz until this time limit expires, unless the arrival of a shipment of arms from Germany should call for immediate action. As soon as the blockade is established Vera Cruz will be occupied, and then the administration will wait to see whether this will bring Huerta to terms.

If this does not cause Huerta to reconsider his defiance, the United States army division now at Texas City, will be rushed to Vera Cruz and at the same time a division of marines will be landed. The soldiers will be commanded by Gen. Wood, and the marines by Col. L. W. T. Waller, who is rushing east from Mate Island navy yard for this purpose.

Will Prevent Delivery of Arms. Admiral Fletcher has been told that a shipment of two million rounds of ammunition and 250 rapid-fire Krupp guns were expected at Vera Cruz on a German steamer some time today, and is under specific instructions to see to it that the munitions of war do not reach Huerta.

Inasmuch as he cannot hold up the steamer flying the German flag—that of a friendly nation—Fletcher cannot act until after the shipment of arms is unloaded at the Mexican custom house in Vera Cruz. His only move then, is to seize the custom house.

Officials will not say whether the German steamer has actually reached Vera Cruz. Secretary Daniels insisted that no word had come from Vera Cruz of this, or of any other developments there.

It was thought that the German ship was not due until tonight, and if that is so Fletcher will probably be able to proceed under the resolution, which, it is expected, by that time will have been approved by Congress.

The Vera Cruz episode overshadowed every other development in Mexico today. It was the subject of a long conference of the cabinet, and it was plainly a cause of grave concern to the President and his advisers. It resulted in a series of wild rumors.

It is known that the President has approved a series of general orders dealing with Mexico. These, it is understood, outline in every essential detail the procedure to be followed in blockading the Mexican coast.

President's Orders Are Completed

Copies have been transmitted to the admiral's commanding on the east and west coasts, and also to the representatives of the foreign governments here in confidence. These orders will be released by wireless immediately after the President signs the joint resolution authorizing his use of the army and navy dealing with the Mexican situation.

Plans to Occupy Mexico City

Information came to the United Press this afternoon from a high official in the government who is in a position to know the plans of the President that if Huerta forces the use of the marines and regulars, Mexico City will be occupied and held pending the restoration of order generally. The question of dealing with the constitutionalists in the north will be taken up afterward.

John Lind, the President's special envoy to Mexico, was sent for when the cabinet meeting broke up and he, with Secretary of War Garrison, Secretary of State Bryan and the President, were closeted together. Meanwhile Secretary Tammity was sent up to the Capitol by the President with instructions to urge the Democratic majority in both houses to expedite in every way possible the resolution which would permit the President to act. As a result of the anxiety displayed by the President and his advisers to have the resolution passed by Congress immediately, it became evident that a number of serious questions had arisen in addition to preventing the German arms shipment from reaching Huerta.

High administration officials said that while no blockade could be ordered to keep foreign vessels from landing cargoes, without a declaration of war, prompt occupation of Vera Cruz by marines prevents any munitions of war from being rushed to the Mexican capital.

"Every minute of delay by Congress counts," said White House officials. "Munitions for Defense of Railroad."

Occupation of Vera Cruz and the initial warlike measures. If Huerta's army to defend it, the task of the United States will be infinitely increased.

Secretary Daniels left the cabinet meeting at 12.20 and hurried to his own office. He was plainly much concerned, and when told of the various reports concerning Admiral Fletcher and the action to be taken or already taken as Vera Cruz, said:

"It would be very unwise for me to say anything at the present moment. The resolution authorizing the President to use the armed forces of the United States is now before the Senate. Until it has acted and this matter is cleared up we can make no announcement."

BRIEFS OF APRIL 21.

Mexico City.—Gen. Blanquet, the Mexican minister of war, was asked today whether the reserves would be called to the colors. He replied: "In due time, if it should become necessary, they will be so called, as will every citizen in Mexico."

Laredo, Tex.—It was authoritatively reported that Federal officers from Nuevo Laredo garrison, bearing a flag of truce, went down the river yesterday to parley with rebel officers. Coalition of rebels and federals against the United States was said to be their object.

San Francisco.—Commanded by Capt. W. H. Pritchett, 300 marines left the Mare Island navy yard today for Tiburon to board the cutter Jupiter, which will take them to San Diego.

Vera Cruz.—A large number of Americans and other foreigners are on their way here from the capital. They occupy two sections of the ordinary train as well as a special train. Everything remains quiet in this city.

New York.—The new superdreadnought New York, one of the two largest battleships in the world, will sail for Guantanamo, Cuba, on Sunday. It was announced at the Brooklyn navy yard today. The Texas is practically ready for sea duty on short notice.

San Francisco.—The cruiser South Dakota, from the Puget Sound navy yard, with 260 marines aboard, entered San Francisco bay today to take on coal preparatory to departing to Mexican waters. About 500 marines from the Mare Island navy yard will be taken aboard.

Washington.—Secretary Bryan said just before entering the cabinet meeting that there was a general exodus of Americans from Mexico City to Vera Cruz and that many Americans at the latter place were getting aboard the liner Esperanza.

Galveston, Tex.—Five thousand men who, army officers say, would be the first to be dispatched should the United States army be ordered into Mexico, were ready here this morning to embark in less than six hours.

San Antonio.—As a precaution against any outbreak among the three la sympathizers in the Mexican colony here, an armed guard will be placed about the United States consular. An armed guard is also being maintained at the Texas National Guard Armory.

Washington.—Seven leading diplomats in the corps here were this afternoon requested to call and confer with Secretary of State Bryan at 2.30 p. m. It was assumed that the secretary would outline to them the American policy with regard to action against Mexico.

Mexico City, April 21.—The watchful waiting policy now prevails at Mexico City. With the Senate of the American Congress delaying action and Charge O'Shaughnessy having exhausted every means of persuasion to ward obtaining an agreement from the Mexican government to comply with the demands of President Wilson for a salute, there was nothing to do but wait.

Foreign diplomats could only await developments that are to follow, when the entire matter is placed in the hands of Wilson.

Huerta Avoids Conference. The entire diplomatic corps, with the exception of Charge O'Shaughnessy, held an extended conference with Foreign Minister Portillo late last night. Huerta was not present, it is declared he is taking no official part in negotiations. It is believed here that the American Congress will have President Wilson with full power to act and that the President and Huerta will then deal directly with each other thereafter.

Sir Lionel Carden, former British ambassador to Mexico, but recently named ambassador to Brazil, was expected to arrive here today. Members of the diplomatic corps had high hopes that he might be able to persuade Huerta to yield.

Will Protect Americans. A backdown at the present time would put Huerta in the light of surrendering the American flag without cause in the eyes of the Mexicans. The attitude of the government is that no insult was offered the United States.

The transportation committee of the American colony has assurances from Huerta that in the event of war he will give Americans who wish to depart from the capital all possible aid. He has also declared that he will protect insofar as he is able all Americans who find it necessary to remain in the city.

SOUTH DAKOTA IN PORT. San Francisco, April 21.—The cruiser South Dakota, from Puget Sound navy yard, with 260 marines aboard, entered San Francisco Bay early today. She proceeded to California City to take on coal preparatory to departing for Mexican waters.

About 500 marines from the Mare Island navy yard also will be taken aboard the South Dakota.

Neither the South Dakota nor the cutter Jupiter will sail from San Francisco Bay until further instructions from Washington.

ARRESTED NEAR BORDER

San Diego, Cal., April 21.—A Mexican in Federal uniform was arrested near the border at Polero last night by C. E. Emery, a customs inspector. Emery acted on the supposition that the man was a smuggler and brought him to jail here.

Search revealed a canvas money belt, heavy with Mexican money. On the way to jail he asked many questions concerning the number and locality of troops on the border.

AMERICANS URGED TO GO

Chihuahua, Mex., April 20, via El Paso, Tex., April 21.—Consul Letcher, on instructions from Washington, is notifying Americans in this city and other towns of the State of Chihuahua to leave the country as a precaution against possible unfortunate, eventualities growing out of the decision of the Washington Government to seize Tampico and Vera Cruz.

They will be sent out in small bodies if time permits, as a general exodus is feared, might precipitate trouble. Six American women left tonight.

TROOPS REACH GALVESTON

Galveston, Tex., April 21.—Troops of the 5th Brigade of the Second Division, U. S. Army, under command of Col. Daniel Corman, were ready today to go on board the four army transports here at a moment's notice. All could embark in less than six hours. The brigade, which is composed of the 4th, 7th, 10th, and 26th Infantry Regiments, will be reinforced by the 6th Cavalry, one battery of the 4th Field Artillery, Co. D, Engineers, Co. D, Signal Corps and an ambulance corps. The full brigade numbers approximately 4700 officers and men.

A wireless message announced that the torpedo boats Flusser, Preston and Reid would arrive in Galveston today. Their coming was a surprise to Army and Navy officials here, as they had been last reported in St. Joseph Bay, Fla.

The other units of the division probably will arrive Thursday overland from Houston. They had gone there from the Texas City camp to participate today in the anniversary celebration of the battle of San Jacinto, which decided Texas' fight for independence from Mexico.

Obedient Instructions

The young wife sent her very new maid to buy a dozen plums from a neighboring fruit store and as she handed the girl a dime said:

"Be sure Mary, before buying the plums to pinch one or two just to see that they are ripe."

In a little while the maid returned with a flushed face and triumphant look in her eyes. Handing her mistress the bag of plums she placed the money on the table and exclaimed:

"I pinched one or two as you told me and when the man wasn't looking I pinched a bagful."—London Mirror.

THE RED ROSE COMING.

"The Red Rose," John C. Fisher's merry musical will come to Portsmouth Theatre, Wednesday evening, April 22. Robert Hood Bowers, the composer of this delightful musical comedy success, has never written more exquisite music than the volatile, diaphanous score he has given it. Action starts right in at the very outset. There are no tedious preliminaries, everything goes off with a slam of harmonies bursting into rockets ahead of the plot. And to listen to "The Queen of Vanity Fair," a serio-comic song of delicious humor, is to realize the silver qualities of this delightful entertainment.
